JURY TRIAL IN THE POLICE COURT

It required most of the morning for the prosecution to introduce its testimony in the case of the city against Oscar J. Gutke, charged with striking Herbert L. Herrington, and the defense is introducing testimony this afternoon in Judge W. H. Reed's court. The complaint charges that on September 18, Oscar J. Gutke struck H. L. Herrington several times with his fists.

According to the testimony introduced this morning, the trouble occurred when a switch engine bumped into a train of cars that were being unloaded near the Utah Canning company plant. William C. Long, a can inspector, told Gutke, the switchman, that the cars should not be bumped into without giving warning. When Gutke stated that he had given warning, Herrington contradicted Gutke and the switchman struck Herrington after first telling him to take off his glasses and step off to one side.

The jury consists of G. Syphers, Dan Munson, J. G. Hill and Sam Fenstermaker.

LOADS OF AUTUMN LEAVES FOR THE FASHION SHOW

In honor of the occasion and also because of the cold snap, the members of Ogden's police force will appear Friday morning, the first day of the Fashion Show, in the neat blue winter uniforms, fresh from the cleaners and presser. The order was given to change from olive drab to blue on October 1. The decision to hurry the day was reached by Chief W. I. Norton yesterday and the notice was posted on the board.

Loads of autumn leaves have been brought to the city during the day and a number of the business houses have begun to decorate with the twigs and branches. Many of the store windows are being attracted to the business district despite the cold weather.

Employees of the Charles Goodman Decorating company are at work today on the corner decorations. Because of the network of wires, care must be taken to arrange the strings of flags and pennants but the work is going along rapidly. The intersections will be made bright with flags. Business houses too, are using flags to good effect in decorating the fronts.

The cold and stormy weather is not worrying the Fashion Show committee who are certain that the bad spell will have passed before Friday. "We should be annoyed," said Chairman W. E. Sanderson today, "if it snows we'll add a cutter and bob sleigh parade to our list of features."

OLYMPIC COMMITTEE LEAVES
 New York, Sept. 23.—The German Olympic committee, after a month devoted to inspecting America's athletic training methods, sailed for Berlin today.

FIVE MAIDS TO THE ENGINEERS FORTIER AND BEERS AT STATE FAIR DAM SITE

Last evening the county board of commissioners selected Miss Edith Brewer to act as queen for Weber county at the state fair which opens next Monday. Miss Brewer has accepted the honor and has begun preparations for her appearance at the capital city.

She will be attended by five maids of honor to come from the rural districts of the county. The representatives will be from Huntsville, Hooper, Plain City, Wilson and Taylor and it is expected that names will be received from all the outside places during the afternoon.

Those so far selected to act as maids are Rhoda Mortensen of Huntsville, Leonard Hunter of Wilson, Erma Taylor of Plain City and Nellie Kingston of Taylor. The maids will be required to meet Queen Beatrice at any early time to learn of her wishes respecting her reign in the capital.

Engineer Samuel Fortier of the department of agriculture, and State Engineer W. D. Beers of Salt Lake today are making an official inspection of the South Fork dam site with a view to determining whether bedrock exists.

It is stated by Mayor Fell that the examination can be made in one day and he is of the opinion that the report of the two engineers will be given without delay, after which steps for further development will be taken jointly by the city and the Ogden Reservoir company. The mayor is optimistic and appears to be certain that the report will be favorable. Mr. Fortier has gone over the dam site before and is familiar with every phase of the work.

The mayor states that bids have been called for on concrete work and it is his opinion that both the city and the reservoir company will be desirous of considering propositions from contractors at an early time after the engineers have made their report, provided the report will warrant further operations. He also is of the opinion that as much work as possible should be done this fall to protect the trench from filling up with silt and earth during the winter and spring.

FINISHING TOUCHES TO PREPARATIONS FOR CARNIVAL

Finishing touches were given to all plans for making the Fashion Show a tremendous success at a meeting of all committees at the Weber club last night. When the business of the meeting was completed, the various committee members enjoyed an excellent buffet lunch and hundreds of votes for the various candidates in the queen contest were cast.

Chairman W. E. Sanderson of the executive committee presided over the meeting. In a short address, he urged those present to keep up the good work, saying:

"The success or failure of the Fashion Show rests upon the shoulders of the committees, but, since the word failure is not in the carnival dictionary, the Fashion Show is bound to be a great success."

"The interest of the people in general is evidence that the Fashion Show is popular. Therefore it is up to the promoters to see that the people get what they want. The plans of the committees provide abundant entertainment for young and old and there is no reason why the Fashion Show cannot be made the most brilliant carnival ever held in Ogden."

Gus Wright, for the advertising committee, reported that the country newspapers had carried a half-page advertisement concerning Ogden's second fashion show. He said the publicity had been well cared for. That the industrial parade will be a most successful pageant was reported by George Goldard. He said the various business houses are now working on the floats.

As Judge A. G. Horn was not present, Chairman Sanderson reported for the baby show committee. He repeated that the show would be held in the City park and said there will be no baby parade because of the objection of parents.

Illumination, music and amusement committees reported great progress. Hudson avenue is to be a blaze of light on Friday and Saturday. When the grand promenade of masked and costumed characters takes place Saturday evening, there will be light, music and amusements galore.

EXTENSION WORK OF UNIVERSITY OF UTAH

Professor F. W. Reynolds of the University of Utah is in Ogden today in the interest of the extension division of the university. He is meeting with the teachers this afternoon and the time for the lectures is being fixed. The teachers are also selecting the subjects they desire.

Professor Reynolds stated today that the extension work is open to the general public. In fact he declared that the university is eager to reach out and serve young and old. Classes in any subject will be formed, if so desired by a sufficient number. In Salt Lake, he said, cement workers studied the cement industry in the evenings. Electricity, business, law, commercial studies, and in fact any subject taught anywhere may be taken providing a sufficient number register in the class.

The professor invites any person contemplating taking an extension subject to call on Superintendent J. M. Mills of the city schools.

"If the public does not get what it wants from the university it is because the public does not ask for it," said Professor Reynolds.

BUT BEEF IS NOT ANY CHEAPER
 Fresh beef from the South Temperate zone is now an established factor in the import trade of the United States. Between two and three million pounds of fresh beef, practically all of it from Australia and Argentina, has entered ports of the United States in the past three months, indicating that the imports of the current fiscal year will amount to more than eight million pounds.

Prior to 1912 the importations of fresh beef averaged about one-third of a million pounds per annum. In 1912, however, there was a sharp increase, the total for that year being a little over a million pounds, while in 1913 the total was over four million pounds.

This increase, coupled with the announcement that refrigerator ships had been put on to bring Australian and Argentine meats to the United States, led the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the department of commerce to instruct the collectors of customs at the various ports to export from month to month the quantity of fresh beef received at the countries from which it was brought.

These detailed figures are now in hand for the months of June, July and August and are interesting. They show that the imports of fresh beef in June amounted to 567,205 pounds, of which 336,913 pounds entered at the port of San Francisco, 23,947 pounds at Seattle and 143,033 pounds at New York. The entrances at San Francisco were from Australia, those at Seattle from Canada, and those at New York from England, but understood to be Argentine beef, which had been sent from Argentina to England and thence to the United States.

In July the total was larger than in June, being 642,333 pounds, of which 201,317 pounds coming from Australia entered at San Francisco and 30,784 pounds from Australia entered at Seattle, while 410,232 pounds direct from England, but probably originating in Argentina, entered at New York. In August the total still grew, being for that month 824,342 pounds, of which 404,138 pounds were from Australia and entered by the Pacific ports, and 297,355 pounds entering at New York were from England, but probably originating in Argentina.

The import prices of this foreign beef range from approximately 7 cents to 10 cents a pound, the average valuation of the meats received during the three months for which these details are available having been from Australia, 6.9 cents a pound; from England, 9.6 cents a pound. It must be remembered, however, that these are the figures of value in the country from which the beef is sent to the United States and do not, therefore, include the cost of transportation or the tariff of 14 cents a pound.

FOR FLOOR COVERINGS.
 Modern machine-made rug rugs are used for living room floors, as are the fibre grass rugs; these come in all colors and are reversible. They are inexpensive and last well. Rug rugs can be washed, either by scrubbing, or in the tub; fibre grass rugs can be cleaned with soap and water the same as a bare floor. Where the floors are unsightly, the cracks can be filled, then varnished, painted or stained. With plenty of small rugs to lay about in the most used places, the room can be made very neat and handsome.
